WOMEN READERS

GOWN OF PALESTAN TUSSOR.

The sketch depicts a frock which is very attractive in coloring, and is especially designed for wear during the late summer. A little Persian silk was introduced as trimming in colorings of light mahogany, green, orange and blue, this touch of oriental coloring being introduced about the reverse collar in little triangular pieces on the sleeves and on the buttons used. Heavy guipure lace, dyed to match the material, was used across the front of the bodice, and formed the sleeve cuffs, the yoke being of ecru tucked net. The skirt was plaited, and in walking length.

Geraniums Slipped Now

Bloom in Early Autumn.

It may seem premature to think now of flowers for the winter, but certain house plants that may be secured in August without any expenditure, if desired in the late autumn or early winter, will either be impossible to get or else will cost a large sum.

For instance, slipping geraniums is one of the simplest feats, and their care afterward is not difficult. At the same time there is no small decoration that will more ornament a room than a pot of red geraniums in flower. Even when not blossoming they are still desirable to place in a window.

To slip geraniums, healthy looking shoots should be selected and cut off less than an inch from the plant's trunk with a sharp knife or scissors. Pots must be ready to put them in, so the cuttings will not wilt. Geraniums do not require a rich soil. Indeed, like nasturtiums, they will go to foliage rather than to blossoms unless the loam is sandy, having a little rich compost. They will do nothing in clay unless it is lightened with sand.

Small Pots for First Planting.

Small pots for the first planting should be filled to within an inch of the top. It will be necessary to leave a hole in putting in the plant, as there are no roots to take the space. The best method is to punch a hole about three inches deep and plunge the shoot into it.

The soil should then be watered and pressed gently but firmly around the stalk. After that the pots must be placed where they will get light, but no sun, and the soil must be kept at an even state of moisture, though not wet, for a week. The leaves will drop off, but that is no indication that the plant will not live. There is not the slightest difficulty in knowing whether or not the cutting is rooting, because if it is not the stalk, after two or three weeks, will begin to shrivel just above the soil line. This is because the sap has ceased to flow and the branch is starved.

If the stalk is stout and green it is alive and healthy, though there may be no leaves. They will begin to form as soon as rooting is accomplished, which will be in two or three weeks, sometimes a little longer.

Care of Slipped Flowers. After the first week the pots should be moved where they will get some sun each day, but care must be taken that they do not burn. Cuttings potted now will be in good condition to take into the house by the time the first frost comes.

A root that has been blossoming out of doors all summer, even though it be in a window box, and not in the ground, is no good for winter. It must "rest" at that time, and its leaves will continue, but it will not flower.

Mignonette may still be sown out of doors for an autumn crop of fragrant flowers, and so, too, many sweet alyssum. It is a mistake to think that the season is too far advanced to do anything with nasturtium seeds. If planted now they will do famously in September. It will be necessary to shield the young seedlings from the intense sun of midday through this month.

Little Girls' Frocks.

Cute little frocks of gingham or linen for small girls are made with a full skirt gathered to a belt, attached to a blouse waist which simulates a front closing by means of a box pleat down center front, decorated with large buttons.

The neck is finished with a Peter Pan collar and silk tie, and a breast pocket is added on the left front, just a growing-up waist.

The sleeves are three-quarter-length full bishop, confined by band cuffs. This model is well adapted for school wear if made from woolen fabrics.

Advanced Fall Suits.

Empire and directoire effects are decidedly a feature of the advanced fall suits, while braid and buttons are the favored trimmings. Soutache is used extensively and large handsome buttons are added as decorations.

The skirts are in many cases pleated, differing very little from those worn last year, and the coats are long—averaging three-quarter-length—the fronts cut away to display a vest, but straight up and down.

There is no rounding off at the corners at lower front edges.

Tasty Chow-Chow

And Catsup Recipes

Take one peck green tomatoes, half a peck ripe tomatoes, six white onions, three heads of white cabbage, one dozen green peppers and three red peppers. Chop the tomatoes, cabbage and other ingredients together into a fine hash. Drain off any surplus juices, sprinkle a cup of fine salt over the vegetables and pack in a coarse burlap bag and lay on slats over a large pan or tub to drain.

A board and weight on top will expedite matters. Let them remain twenty-four hours, until all the acid juices are pressed out. Now add to them three pounds sugar, a half cup grated horseradish, a tablespoonful each ground black pepper, mustard, white mustard seed, mace and celery seed, and knead all together with the hands. Lastly add a half cup Dutch mustard mixed with vinegar and onion, and cover with good cider vinegar. Pack in stone jars and keep covered.

English Pickle or Chow-Chow.

For this excellent pickle take two heads cauliflower, one head cabbage, 200 very small cucumbers, 50 half-grown cucumbers, pared and sliced, 50 small white onions, two heads celery cut in pieces, one small cup green grapes, one-half cup radish pods, one-half cup nasturtium seeds, one-half cup white mustard, one-quarter cup ground black pepper, one-quarter cup ground cinnamon, one-half cup tumeric and one cup grated horseradish.

Cut the cauliflower in flowerets, chop the cabbage and onions, or leave the onions whole if preferred. Put all the vegetables in sugar over night. The next day drain clear from the crude juices and cover with vinegar. Let it stand two days, then drain again and mix in the spices.

Boil one gallon of vinegar and two pounds white sugar, and pour on white hot. Repeat this three mornings in succession, draining off the vinegar and reheating. The last time mix one scant half cup ground mustard with a little vinegar and add to the vinegar and sugar.

Chili Sauce.

Most housekeepers nowadays prefer chili sauce to catsup. For making the former this is a good rule:—Take a peck of ripe tomatoes and skin by throwing into boiling water, then rubbing off the peel. Peel eight medium-sized white onions and chop the onions and tomatoes together until very fine. Put over the fire and cook fifteen minutes. Never use tin or iron vessels in cooking tomatoes. A porcelain-lined kettle is best for preserves and pickles.

After the first fifteen minutes add a pint of vinegar, a tablespoonful each powdered cinnamon, allspice and black pepper, and teaspoonful cloves. Tie the spices in a small bag of cheesecloth. Now let the whole cook for about five hours on the back of the stove until quite thick, taking care that it does not scorch.

Old-Fashioned Tomato Catsup.

Slice without peeling nine quarts of tomatoes not too ripe. Pack in a large porcelain-lined kettle, draining off as much of the clear juice as possible. Add to the tomatoes four tablespoonfuls of salt, two of allspice, one of cinnamon, three-quarters of a tablespoonful of cloves, a teaspoonful of black pepper and a half teaspoonful of cayenne. Pour over all three cups of good vinegar. Cover the kettle and simmer gently on the back of the stove for three or four hours, not allowing it to stop a gentle simmer. Take from the fire and let the catsup cool in the kettle. When cold strain and bottle, sealing closely.

Green Tomato Catsup.

Chop seven pounds green tomatoes and four red peppers, excluding the skins. Add one quart of vinegar and cook together two hours. Now add one pound brown sugar, two tablespoonfuls salt and two of mustard, one teaspoonful ground cloves, one tablespoonful cinnamon and the same amount of allspice. Boil two hours longer, strain and seal.

The Ubiquitous Scarf.

Many are the large mousseline shawls worn, fringed, tasseled or simply hemmed and tucked at the border, and even then weighted with tassels, but all are unfined unless with mousseline of another color. Lead color, khaki, dark amethyst or navy blue are the colors preferred, for these shawls or scarfs are worn with all sorts of light frocks.

Danderine

and we can

PROVE IT!

A lady from Minnesota writes: "As a result of using Danderine, my hair is close to five feet in length."

Beautiful Hair at Small Cost

HAIR troubles, like many other diseases, have been wrongly diagnosed and altogether misunderstood. The hair itself is not the thing to be treated, for the reason that it is simply a product of the scalp and wholly dependent upon its action. The scalp is the very soil in which the hair is produced, nurtured and grown, and it alone should receive the attention if results are to be expected. It would do no earthly good to treat the stem of a plant with a view of making it grow and become more beautiful—the soil in which the plant grows must be attended to. Therefore, the scalp in which the hair grows must receive the attention if you are to expect it to grow and become more beautiful.

Loss of hair is caused by the scalp drying up, or losing its supply of moisture or nutriment, when baldness occurs the scalp has simply lost all its nourishment, leaving nothing for the hair to feed upon to plant or even a tree would die under similar conditions.

The natural thing to do in either case is to feed and replenish the soil or scalp as the case may be, and your crop will grow and multiply as nature intended it should.

Knowlton's Danderine has a most wonderful effect upon the hair glands and tissues of the scalp. It is the only remedy for the hair ever discovered that is similar to the natural hair foods or liquids of the scalp.

It penetrates the worst quickly and the hair soon shows the effects of its wonderfully exhilarating and life-producing qualities. One 2-cent bottle is enough to convince you of its great worth as a hair growing and hair beautifying remedy—try it and see for yourself.

WORLD'S OLDEST OFFICE BOY

EIGHTY-NINTH BIRTHDAY IS CELEBRATED TODAY.

Has Same Job He Had at Twenty. But Has Done Things Between.

Special Dispatch to The Star.

NEW YORK, September 3.—The oldest office boy in the world celebrated the eighty-ninth anniversary of his birth yesterday. He is Samuel Brackett of Trenton, and employed in the office of the anvil works, in that city, owned by Mrs. Clark Fisher.

Sixty-nine years ago Brackett started in as office boy. He occupies the same position he did when he first went to work.

When the old man was asked to give his idea of how to succeed, he said: "Strict attention to business is the secret of success. That is why I didn't want any fuss made over my birthday. I was afraid it would take my mind and too much of my time from my office duties."

Brackett was a pupil in the Sunday school class of Mark Fisher, in 1820, when Mr. Fisher had a large tannery in Portland, Me. As he seemed to be a bright lad Mr. Fisher put him to work in his office. When his employer moved to Trenton in 1842, and helped to establish the Fisher & Norris anvil works, "Sammy" accompanied him. Instead of staying in the office he went into the shops.

When advancing years and injuries that had made him slightly lame unfitted Brackett for arduous toil, the late Capt. Clark Fisher, Mark Fisher's son, wanted to pension him. As the veteran anvil maker declared he was still able to work, he was put in the office.
